Headline:
Feeling cold, with sunny spells. Largely dry throughout.

Today:
A cold start, with frost clearing through the morning under sunny skies. Patchy cloud approaches around noon, allowing for sunny spells, but remaining cold, especially in the wind. Mainly dry, but the odd possible snow shower in northernmost areas later. Maximum temperature 6 deg C (43 deg F).

Tonight:
This evening, skies will clear, leaving a calm but cold night, with widespread frost developing. Light winds, but feeling bitterly cold, especially towards North Staffordshire. Minimum temperature -2 deg C (28 deg F).

Tuesday:
A frosty start to a bright and settled morning, before a scattering of snow showers arrives around noon, continuing through the evening, clearing again into the night. Cold throughout. Maximum temperature 7 deg C (45 deg F).

Outlook for Wednesday to Friday:
Largely cold, wintry, and windy through this period, with widespread frosts. Some rain and snow Wednesday, but largely dry Thursday, with winds strengthening. Rain followed by wintry showers on Friday.
